

SUCCESSOR TO GARRISON TO BE SELECTED SOON

President Goes on Cruise
Down Potomac to Ponder
Over Who'll Be Nominated to War Portfolio.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Washington, Feb. 11.—President Wilson left Washington tonight with Mrs. Wilson for a week-end cruise down the Potomac river and Chesapeake bay on the naval yacht Mayflower, during which he will consider the selection of a successor to Lindley M. Garrison as secretary of war. He expects to return late Sunday night or early Monday morning.

It was said tonight by the president's advisers that he wanted to reach a decision as quickly as possible and that he probably would be ready to send the nomination to the senate early next week. An assistant secretary to succeed Henry Breckinridge is all likelihood will not be named until the new secretary is confirmed.

Many Names Suggested.
Secretary Lane, of the interior; Secretary Houston, of agriculture; and Frank L. Polk, counselor of the state department, are understood to be under serious consideration, and the names of twenty or more other men have been suggested to the president. These include former Governor Marshall, of Ohio; Col. E. M. House, former Governor of Massachusetts; former Mayor Baker, of Cleveland; Senator Stone, of Missouri; Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the senate military committee; Representative Hay, chairman of the house military committee; and several other members of congress.

The president is said to be desirous of naming a man already in touch with the military situation, who could take up immediately the direction of the war department where Mr. Garrison left off. It is intimated by his friends, however, that he may select some one not yet mentioned publicly in connection with the position.

Consider Men Mentioned.
The president spent several hours today in going over the qualifications of various men suggested. A cabinet meeting was held, but Mr. Wilson did not seek advice on the subject there. Tonight he attended a dinner given in his honor by Postmaster General Burleson, and immediately afterwards boarded the Mayflower.

BANDIT GARCIA HELD ON ARIZONA CHARGE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Douglas, Ariz., Feb. 11.—Col. Albert to Garcia, bandit leader who escaped from a cordon of Carranza troops which surrounded him several weeks ago, was arrested here today on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Lee G. Laveley, consul for the de facto Mexican government, immediately began the preparation of extradition papers for the return of Garcia to Mexico.

Garcia offered no resistance to arrest by the local authorities, but said later he would resist extradition to Mexico, as he believed he would be executed if delivered into the hands of Carranza officials.

Garcia is alleged to have made numerous raids upon undefended Mexican towns, holding residents for ransom.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backache or have Bladder trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels, removing all the acids, waste and poisons, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush out the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

Antoinette Donnelly's Talks to Women on Beauty Topics

Eyes and Wrinkles.

A WOMAN'S eyes have so much to do with the beauty of her face that you wouldn't think she would ever be neglectful of them or treat them badly. While we are young we subject them to strain in every possible way. It is generally not until we begin to realize that we do not "see as well as we used to" that any thought is given to the poor, ill-used but willing members.

I never see a girl traveling home after a day spent in office or workroom reading a novel or newspaper or playing a needle on a foolish looking piece of furniture. I do not long to speak to her and even her against the habit. The incessant light in these conveniences and the constant jolting all cause additional strain in the sight. Besides, the fifteen, twenty, or thirty minutes spent thus in traveling home makes an excellent opportunity for resting the eyes after a day's work.

Typewriting, bookkeeping, or any office work demands concentration of the eyes, and the casual glancing about during the journey home could make a welcome and beneficial rest period.

Strained, tired eyes are never bright eyes, and certainly not pretty eyes. What every girl at heart wishes for is bright, sparkling eyes, and the safest, surest, and quickest way to get them is by avoiding overstrain and fatiguing the muscles of the eyes.

Make a habit of resting your eyes during the day's work. To do this close them lightly and make the mind as nearly as possible a blank. Do not screw up the eyes, for then the muscles will not relax, and relaxation is necessary to proper resting of the eyes.

The second rule for acquiring or maintaining bright eyes is the regular use of the eye bath daily. Plain cold water with a pinch of salt may be used, or the boric lotion made by mixing a teaspoon of boric powder in eight ounces of water. This should be kept tightly corked and when required pour a little into the eye cup and sufficient hot water added to make the lotion slightly warm, which will be found better than a cold lotion during the winter months.

There is another reason why eye strain should be avoided by even the youngest among us. It not only dims the eyes but it causes wrinkles. The frowning wrinkles between the eyebrows and the fine lines under the eyes and the little "crow's feet" at the outer corners of the eyes are all caused by eye strain. Constantly on a book or paper in a poor light makes one unconsciously squint the eyes and starts the formation of the much dreaded first wrinkles.

Antoinette Donnelly's Answers.

QUESTIONS: I should think it would be better, Dorothy, for you to use a good hair tonic on your hair and combine it with scalp massage. This will promote the growth of the hair and keep it from falling out. Brushing is also excellent. Brush the hair at least once a day and let it be a thorough brushing of the entire scalp. I don't think using hair curlers every night would harm the hair so much as it would cause you discomfort. Why don't you try moistening your hair with a curling fluid before putting it up in curlers? It will often stay away for three or four days, and this will save you putting it up every night. I shall be glad to send you my formula for curling fluid and hair tonic if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

ELIZABETH: The redness on your body may come from sunburn or some other local disturbance. It can't be got rid of by using a lot of talcum powder. The redness on your head may be caused by dandruff or eczema. I suggest your consulting a nose specialist.

THERESA: I wish I could suggest a skin for your hair, but I do not appear to have any. I am sure you have a good one. I suggest you going to a good hair dresser to have it done. I am glad you derive so much help from my column.

RACHEL: The best food for building up the system is fresh air and exercise. Eat nourishing food, drink plenty of water, get eight hours' sleep each night, and rest if possible, and guard against constipation. The most fat producing foods are butter, cream, olive oil, and bacon fat. I shall be glad to send you my dietary for gaining flesh if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

MATILDA: The redness of your hands may be caused from poor circulation. Walk and exercise as much as you can in the open air. There is nothing better for poor circulation than exercising. This is my formula for hair curling fluid: One ounce of gum arabic, half an ounce of moist sugar. Dissolve them in three-quarters of a pint of water. When dissolved add two ounces of rosewater and shake thoroughly. Bottle and use when required.

OAXACA STATE INDEPENDENT OF ALL FACTIONS

Indians of Porfirio Diaz' Old Home Maintain Legislative and Executive Government and Have Army.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
El Paso, Tex., Feb. 11.—Official reports from Mexico City to the effect that three columns, composed of cavalry, artillery and infantry, are moving against the opposition to the de facto government in the state of Oaxaca, were received today and the publication in semi-official newspapers reaching here today from Mexico City of the declaration of independence of the Oaxaca state government, drew local attention to the unique conflict in and about that state.

Independent Government.
Authentic advices received recently stated that the independent state government, which announced its independence some time ago, is maintaining a regular legislative and executive organization, which had decided to keep the state free from invasion by any faction in Mexico, and has a large armed force to maintain this determination.

In the interior of the state but unable to reach the city of Oaxaca were said to be 3,000 of the old federal army, one of the units of the so-called new revolution in Mexico attempting to conquer the state. On the border these federals are said to have a force of 2,500 troops. All the federal troops are reported to be under command of General Higinio Aguilar.

Must Beat Both Factions.
The troops of the de facto army must defeat both the federals and the independent troops of Oaxaca, composed entirely of native Indians, before itself subduing the state.

The federal forces according to reports here have been ordered to regular lines and have garrisons in block houses and are reported making small headway against the independent state forces in the interior while they are fighting the de facto government troops along the borders.

Vile Headed Bandits.
General Francisco Villa, who today was reported moving westward toward Madera, tonight was reported turning northward with 100 men and entering the district of the hacienda de Candelaria, commonly known as the Cervantes ranch. This district adjoins the San Buenaventura valley and is about 100 miles southwest of Juarez in the Casas Grandes district where the storehouses of the Mormon colonies are located.

Troops from Guerrero are reported to have joined in the pursuit.

INFORMED THAT M'KEE ESTATE IS NOT QUITE SOLVENT, HE ASSERTS

Suit to recover $150 from Mrs. Minnie McKee, executrix of the estate of her husband, Frank McKee, was begun yesterday in the district court by Henry Haining. This amount is said to be a dividend due on stock given by McKee as security for a $6,000 note by Haining.

Haining says he has been informed that the McKee estate is largely insolvent and that he believes the stock of McKee is his only chance for settlement of his claim for $1,500 against the estate. The claim was allowed recently in the probate court.

VAUGHAN ADDRESSES STUDENTS AT ASSEMBLY

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)
State College, N. M., Feb. 11.—Prof. J. H. Vaughan, head of the department of history and economics and ex-president of the New Mexico Educational association, was the speaker in the general assembly of students and faculty on Thursday morning.

Professor Vaughan spoke of his early boyhood in North Carolina where he was born, reared and educated.

Professor Vaughan's address was the second of a series of lectures being given by faculty members regarding their early life with a view of giving the students definite pictures of different sections of the United States.

Dr. George E. Ladd, president of the college, is visiting in Albuquerque and Santa Fe on business connected with the institution.

Dr. L. R. Higley, head of the department of chemistry, was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Young Men's Christian association this week. Dr. Higley's theme was "The Road to the Temple of the Soul." He made special emphasis of some of the evils which are practiced today which literally tear down the body, and make it unfit for its full usefulness.

Prof. A. B. Eke, '15, left Wednesday for Baltimore, Md., where he will spend a month on his vacation.

Miss Eda Lou Walton, instructor in music at the college, was called suddenly to her home this week when she received notice of the serious illness of her mother. She made the trip to Silver City overnight.

GENERAL OFFENSIVE BEGUN BY RUSSIA

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Petrograd, Feb. 11 (via London, 5:05 p. m.).—Although a general revival of activity is officially reported along the entire Russian front, the only developments of importance are the Russian advance in the Stripsa region, southeast of Iserbroff, where the Russians succeeded in capturing heights commanding the district in which runs the main railway line between the Chodorov and Stripsa rivers, and the occupation by the Russians of the heights east of Tchemerine.

The progress in the latter district which is between Iovno and Lutsk, is another sign of the resumption of the Russian offensive which came to an abrupt halt a month ago when the Germans apparently succeeded in erecting such firm fortifications that further attempts at an advance on the part of the Russians became a waste of energy and ammunition.

It is considered significant that a new and more formidable Russian offensive is being launched against the same positions, and with initial success. This is explained by most of the military observers as due to new power and effectiveness of the Russian artillery, which recently has shown marked improvement on all fronts.

The Germans, evidently surprised by the fierceness of the new Russian onslaught, which promises to become a general initiative along the whole line, have been forced at several points to retire to their second line of defenses.

Your Five Hundred Muscles.

The five hundred muscles in the human body depend on pure and rich blood for their health and contractile energy which is the ability to labor. If they are given impure blood they become enfeebled, the step loses its elasticity, the arm its efficiency, and there is incapacity to perform the usual amount of labor.

What a great blessing Hood's Sarsaparilla has been to the many tolling thousands of the British Empire and kept pure and rich! This medicine cleanses the blood of all humors, inherited or acquired, and strengthens and tones the whole system. It is important to be sure that you get Hood's Sarsaparilla when you ask for it. No substitute for it is like it.

JAPANESE GROW CHILLER AND BRITISH ALLY

Many Persons of Distinction Carry on Propaganda in Newspapers in Which English Alliance Is Condemned

(Associated Press Correspondence)
Tokyo, Jan. 4.—The great subject of discussion in Tokyo today is the recent movement in a section of the Japanese press against the Anglo-Japanese alliance. So violent has been the campaign of attack that another part of the press has risen to the defense of the alliance and the correspondent of the London Times for the far east in an article has made a detailed answer to the Japanese criticisms. The tenor of this article caused so much sensation as the original Japanese article.

The Japanese criticisms of the alliance were largely written by professors in the imperial university, headed by Prof. Tetsuya Tatebe, who is a teacher of literature. These writers mostly conclude that the alliance with Great Britain is harmful to Japan. Professor Tatebe doubts whether the alliance can be continued for long because there are but few points of identity in the national ideals of Japan and England. He said: "Can such great honorable national ideals as these held by Japan be found in England? Intelligent persons will be able to decide at once as to that. As the national ideal of England is individualism and selfishness, we the leading principle of England in international dealings is also individualism and selfishness."

And the professor continues: "Japan stands for loyalty and justice; Germany for loyalty and justice; England for selfishness and disloyalty. It is because of this selfishness, and disloyalty that England, while speaking of ultimate victory is reporting daily advance by an inch and retreats by another inch. The British are a race of 'long shanks' (poor fighters). We cannot afford to keep company with such a country."

Japan Must Develop.
Professor Masutani, another member of the staff of the imperial university, contributes an article in which he declares that the development of Japan's national power and the increase of the navy gives a feeling of great anxiety to England and her colonial possessions in the orient, especially as to the fate of Australia. Japan's star indicates that she must develop her power on land and sea and if Japan should expand greatly, England doubtless would not like it. The writer argues that the responsibility of Japan arising out of the alliance is greater than that of England and that at the present time England is using the treaty as a club to beat Japan. He thinks that the alliance has lost its foundation both for Japan and for England.

To solve the problem of what effect the war will have upon the alliance (one must decide) what the result of the war will be. He thinks that while Germany is in a superior position at this time she will doubtless be humiliated by the entente powers. But Professor Nitta figures that since the entente powers are losing their strength they will naturally wish to conclude peace in the time, a peace which, he thinks, will be made on terms restoring the ante-war status and boundary lines as much as possible. The professor is apprehensive as to the burden that may be placed upon Japan in the future on account of the alliance and he is fearful as to the safe outcome of Japan's policy in China which is that of seeking economic development. To secure a market in India is next in importance to securing a market in China, in his opinion. He thinks that some Indians may think of securing the independence of India but is rather inclined to think that from the Japanese standpoint it is better that India remain under British rule, he added.

England's Power to Wane.
Prof. T. Fukuda expressed the opinion that after the war the economic influence of Great Britain in the world will, to a certain extent, be reduced—a view which, according to the writer, would be fully entertained by all persons in well-informed circles, except those who are "blind worshippers of the British."

"As for economic relations," writes Professor Tetsuya Negami, an historian attached to the army department, "the interests of Japan and England can never coincide. It is natural that Japan, which is a newcomer in China, should not please England. But China is the unique place for Japan's development in the economic lines, and we cannot allow England to monopolize the trade interests in China. The economic value of the alliance with Great Britain may be judged from the fact that England classes the Japanese with the colored races and excludes the Japanese from her colonies." The writer concludes that the alliance does not benefit Japan as much as it does England.

References to Germany are made by Prof. Masao Kanbe in an article on "Japan's Policy," in which he argues for the cultivation of the strength of Japan, for Japan among the white races is a power. As he saw the situation, if Japan is to maintain her position it will be necessary for her to imitate Germany, which is a country and a people who know that without power nothing can be done. Japan must cultivate the spirit of militarism, as possessed by the Germans, and Japan needed that kind of education which was the foundation of Germany's strength and by which she has forced the nation to serve the state and make it great. Japan must strive to create a powerful national spirit and produce citizens with some minds in robust bodies, regardless of expenditure or hindrance. He said: "Japan must prepare either for honorable peace or triumphant war."

Repeated attacks on the alliance with Great Britain and expressions of admiration for the success of Germany caused an unpleasant impression among the British residents of the empire, an impression that has been voiced in the organs of the British community and summarized by David Fraser, the London Times correspondent, in an article in a Tokyo newspaper. He makes the point that when a country is hard pushed in war it is a little natural for its people to find themselves run down by those from days.

when they may expect sympathy. He had been assured, he said, that the anti-militarists had been written by irresponsible persons and that the newspapers themselves were not responsible as an indication of public opinion. However, as the writers included members of the house of peers, university professors and other public men he could not fail to give some importance to what had been written.

Semi-official Japanese newspapers characterized the whole controversy as exceedingly regrettable. Said the Japan Times: "The vapors of the Japanese newspapers will be forgotten in a week. The world is today fighting a rotten organization which will crumble and go to pieces, to be reformed and remade into a real system which in its turn will make for the good of the individual, whether he be monarch or president, citizen or subject. The Japanese newspapers and writers who write against the Anglo-Japanese alliance to which Japan has been so splendidly loyal and which has been and is to be effective in protecting British subjects and their interests in the far east will tomorrow be as much ashamed, we hope, of their infantile or senile pullings of today as Mr. David Fraser will regret the over-bombastic wordiness of his article under the unfortunate caption, 'Is Japan Superior?'"

YOUTHFUL BANDITS QUICKLY CAPTURED

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Tulsa, Okla., Feb. 11.—Cowboy constables and four black pistols were part of the stage setting today when they held up the cashier in the bank of Red Fork, three miles from Tulsa and escaped with $184.35 scooped off the counter.

The two men were taken by custody less than an hour later by a posse without a shot being fired and the sheriff announced that they admitted the robbery. They gave their names as John Schuchman, 27 years old, and James Letterman, 27.

PLANET MARS HAS FIRST SPRING THAW

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Flagstaff, Ariz., Feb. 11.—What appears to be the first spring thaw on Mars for this season has just been detected by the astronomers of the Lowell observatory, in latitude 54 degrees and longitude 285 degrees. The north cap itself is in active process of melting, a circular rift having appeared half way through it which is widening and which is connected with the border by radial tributary rifts.

The cap is surrounded by a clear, blue band unlike the tint of the vegetative markings.

In the case of F. C. Wilson, receiver of the Gallup Electric Light company, vs. the People's Light and Power company, the Victor American Fuel company, Gregory Pace and John A. Gordon, the court denied the motion of the defendants to dismiss the bill of complaint and ordered that the defendants answer within twenty days.
